

CPS Helping or hurting our next generation?
Why does CPS step in in some cases and not others? Conspiracy Theory? 55

By Derzhavskiy

Twitter 1 Like 1

Conspiracy Theory? If the shoe fits...

I was having a discussion with a friend last night and she posed a question to me. This wasn't the first time she had asked me this question but it has been sitting in the back of my head rolling around for quite some time. Truly I think it was waiting for an answer or at least more information to be able to pose it into a 'Theory'. Conspiracy Theory? Could be.

As a writer I am always looking for answers. I ask questions then try to find the answers for them, sometimes they fit, sometimes they don't. In this with a plausible answer to the question pick and choose those children who deep and does seem to cross the line.

It is our job to question "why"?

I'm going to give you some examples of parents and children who are in the 'system' without giving names, just the stories. Some have been in the News some have not

The WHY side of the coin

Why isn't something being done? Why do these parents retain custody? Why doesn't the State step in when there are NUMEROUS reports of abuse as well as physical evidence?

1. A 4½ year old child with his 8 year old brother had been in and out of the 'system' for quite some time. The Mother had just gotten the children back 11 days before. For 4 days the 4½ year old child was beaten until not 1 square inch of his body was left untouched. He eventually died of his injuries. CPS did not step in to take this child even though they 'knew' his mother was addicted to illegal drugs. There were numerous allegations of abuse on these children yet CPS did nothing. This case is now closed. The monster who beat him to death is behind bars awaiting sentencing. The Mother who did not protect him is behind bars for the next up to 30 years. These people from the word 'go' were very poor as well as being uneducated.

2. A young woman who lives in an apartment building is beating her child. Through the walls the neighbors can hear the child crying out "Mommy PLEASE don't hit me anymore!" as the child's body is being thrown up against the walls. The neighbors call CPS - nothing is done. It happens again so the neighbors call the police. Nothing is done. Finally the neighbors call the landlord in the hopes that something will be done. He is letting her stay in this apartment because of the children, at least to no cost to her. Nothing is done, the abuse continues. She is very poor and uneducated.

- A Woman has had 16 pregnancies, several abortions, 9 live births. She has been married 5 or 6 times; the time she marries one man she gets pregnant by either another or her 'next' husband. During her marriages she has not had one child by her current husband. She is very poor and continues to live off of the State's assistance. She has been reported to CPS numerous times by various people yet she is allowed to keep her children without interference of the State. She has been labeled as a child abuser in her vehicle and has been taken into a Labate, with the idea of killing them all. She was placed in the hospital for 24 hour observation and returned home to her children. She has been evicted from her various homes to live in her vehicle with these children all different times. Some placed at others' homes yet collected Food Stamps and cash assistance for her children. She has been labeled as a child abuser and has been told by her one father knows for certain that he is the biological father. She refuses to let DNA be done. The various fathers pay child support to the State for children which may not be theirs. Because she was married to the man all of the time of the birth the State says "This child is yours" (this stems from an old law from the 1950's). It is a very poor woman, very poor, very poor, very poor and her life is the Law. This woman is very poor and uneducated.

4. A child is abused by his step-father. Hit and choked, there are bruises left on this young man's neck. He calls his biological father, the father comes to get him, the father has left the home, kidnapping from the police. The police are called to make reports, you don't find it a concern. CPS will call to file an emergency report. The don't find any concern yet the bruises still appear 4 days after the incident. When the whereabouts are discovered by the biological father of the step-father and the call is up to 911 regarding this, the father is told that he is bordering on stalking and could be charged. Nothing is ever done, the step-father returns home unafraid of being arrested. The step-father is very poor as well as uneducated.

- [illegible]

Creating 'poor' people?

Now on the to "Conspiracy Theory" part that might make sense

It is my thought through what has been going on in the political arena that those within the 'middle class' are no longer wanted. As of this time there are 4 classes: people, poor, middle class, rich and 'uber-rich' (billionaires) in Socialist Countries there are 2 classes of people - poor and rich. No in-between. It is my thought that our Government (or people in power) is in the process of attempting to create this. Why? Well the less money we have, means more for them.

This article is just one way of creating poor. We already have a Nation of poor but it would seem by the goings-on of certain Government agencies that there isn't quite enough poor folks for them. CPS seems to be one of those agencies. The workers they have are not required to take a Psychological exam yet they deem themselves qualified to determine if a parent that is fighting to keep their child is psychologically unfit by the actions of that parent.

The 2 headed Coin

Why doesn't the State let these families have their children? Why are they creating costs where there doesn't need be?

1. A Grand mother who is in the middle class is fighting for everything she is worth to gain custody of her 2 grand sons. The mother is prepared to give up custody of these children to anyone who will take them, except the Grandmother. She has an issue and isn't prepared to see her children raised by this woman, she would much rather never see her children again than have them be in her life. The Grandmother is spending thousands of dollars in legal fees to obtain custody. Each time she gets closer to a court date it is postponed causing yet more legal fees which she has to fork over. After spending well over $50,000 in legal fees she is no closer to getting her Grand children than when she began this process. She has also transformed her home to accommodate these children per CPS requirements.

2. A set of Grandparents sought custody of their grand children because their mother could not care for them and willingly signed off. They paid out thousands of dollars in legal fees to the point they could not afford any more, the children were taken from their home and put up for adoption. The children were split up and adopted by another family.

3. A father and son went to a Major League Baseball game. Since it was a hot summer, people get thirsty. The father inadvertently purchased the son a "Mike's Hard Lemonade" he had went to concession stand and ordered an alcoholic beverage. Because he wasn't someone who drank, he didn't realize it was an alcoholic beverage. It was an accident, when he realized what it was he took it away and went to complain to the Concession people for giving him an alcoholic beverage. They reported him to the police who in turn reported him to CPS. His child was removed from the home, from both he and his wife. They were both required to acquire Attorney's to defend them in legal action. Both parents are professionals. The child was put into foster care until the legal case was resolved. This took well over a year, and the legal fees were well over $100,000.

4. A grand mother in another State has paid out thousands of dollars in legal fees in an attempt to gain custody of her grand children that the State had taken from the parents. Rather than just tell her "No, it's not going to happen" they keep allowing her to pay out coming up with excuse after excuse why she cannot regain custody. The children are living in a foster home with extremely limited contact to their biological Grandmother.

6. A mother has lost her children to the biological father who is known to have abused the children. She spends all of her earnings on legal fees in an attempt to regain custody, keeping just enough to survive on. It has been 3 years since she has seen her children, yet nothing is being done. More and more fees are paid yet the Courts keep putting it off. The Judge in this case has prevented 47 other mothers from seeing their children in this County, peachment motions have been

Google

Read more Hubs by S
Contact SweetStudio

Related Hubs

-  Help us Fight C...
by Wandy04
-  Violence in Kid...
by markswrites
-  Best Debt Manag...
by tellymatt000
-  Healthy Hair Tip...
by LSKing
-  Constitutional R...
by Wame77
-  **...
by arizonastyle

Tags

children money welfare
adoption customs
agency foster care
child protective services
government agencies
failing to protect is the 4.

A grand mother in another State has paid out thousands of dollars in legal fees in an attempt to gain custody of her grand children that the State had taken from the parents. Rather than just tell her "No, it's not going to happen" they keep allowing her to pay out coming up with excuse after excuse why she cannot regain custody. The children are living in a foster home with extremely limited contact to their biological Grandmother.

5.

A mother has lost her children to the biological father who is known to have abused the children. She spends all of her earnings on legal fees in an attempt to regain custody, keeping just enough to survive on. It has been 3 years since she has seen her children, yet nothing is being done. More and more fees are paid yet the Courts keep putting it off. The Judge in this case has prevented 47 other mothers from seeing their children in this County, impeachment motions have been filed against the Judge, yet nothing has been done.

6.

A man ran a foster facility backed by a non-profit organization. The group within the facility was near-adult men. The youngest being 16. There was an accusation against the man, the accusation was made against him in particular because of his status. Had anyone else been accused they would have been terminated, the young men wanted to be removed from the program in part because of their age (in one case) the other one was headed to jail because of a 3rd time assaulting the same person.

There is a law from 1974 that states "if you harm one child you will harm all of them". Because of this law the man was removed from his own home. He is a father of 8 children - 5 adopted, 3 biological. At one time he ran a profitable farm, he also ran a non-profit organization. Due to his not being able to be at the residence he can no longer earn a living. He has spent his entire life savings and continues to pay as much as he can for legal fees. He still hasn't had his day in Court yet his legal fees continue to mount. His wife must also have an Attorney per the State. He has spent upwards of $25,000 in legal fees in less than a year. Because of the cost one Attorney has dropped out of the cause. The State is trying to remove his children from the home that he no longer resides in with the accusation that the mother is 'failing to protect' her children.

The cost continues to mount for them all

Every one of these people had at one time considered themselves within in the 'middle class' of life. With enough money to carry them through well into retirement and beyond, or the ability to earn more. Some of them are what would now be termed 'poor', one had plenty of opportunities of earning income into retirement age but his reputation has been sullied to the point that he may never be able to earn a decent living.

These family members are questioned as to their ability to even have visits with the children because they cry, get angry at the 'system' and will spend their last dime to get or retain custody of these children. They are also forced to see Therapists and have Psych evaluations which also cost more money.

Again let's ask the same question

Now to pose the question. Why is the State preventing the families who want the children from having them, yet those parents who have abused their children and continue to abuse them are allowed to keep them? Is this a failure from CPS? Or is this a ploy to take those who are in the middle class down to the level of the poor? Because of the high cost of Attorney fees and the fact that in these types of cases one MUST have an Attorney in which the State will not provide one, one can literally find themselves in the poor house after being involved in a child custody

Mike
Terpening
Story

Now to pose the question. Why is the State preventing the families who want the children from having them, yet those parents who have abused their children and continue to abuse them are allowed to keep them? Is this a failure from CPS? Or is this a ploy to take those who are in the middle class down to the level of the poor? Because of the high cost of Attorney fees and the fact that in these types of cases one MUST have an Attorney in which the State will not provide one, one can literally find themselves in the poor house after being involved in a child custody case. Even after all of this, these people are finding out they will not get custody of these children. Why? Because they have no money.

The money that is used against these people seems to come from a never ending source, our own tax paying pockets.

These 10 different stories come from my little area of the world. How many more similar stories are there?

And yet brought to my attention, one more horror story that isn't being addressed by CPS. Rather than explain it, I will let the video do it for me. By the title of the video it would appear that they have already been deemed 'loving parents' by CPS. By the comments on the video it is determined that the family is poor.

Loving parents?

Does anyone care?

Where is the common sense in all of this? I'm beginning to think that it has been lost. The term "In the Best Interest of the Child" is not being followed.

Where are the children in all of this? Are they just dollar signs to our Government? Are they going to be a 'lost' generation? Does anyone even care? Those that do care, what can they do? When your own Government and their agencies turn against you, where do you go?

Is there a Conspiracy Theory? Is this all just smoke and mirrors to break an already broken Nation? Stories like these are rampant. Just turn to your neighbor and ask them what they know or who they know that is going through these very same horrors. Or maybe you are one of 'these people' who are trying to put together some semblance of life with the hope and prayer that CPS doesn't look your way again.